More information on solar powered animals: <http://bit.ly/VKU37g>

This sea slug is solar powered.
It eats algae, and then incorporates the algae's chloroplasts into its own tissues.

Meteor warning system in the works, but far from ready

There aren't yet any advance warning systems that could give Earthlings a heads-up before an untracked space rock hits. But a telescope project in Hawaii aims to change that, and potentially provide a chance for those in threatened areas to evacuate. Read more: <http://nbcnews.to/15iUZFi>

Elijah McCoy (1843–1929) invented an oil-dripping cup for trains.
Other inventors tried to copy McCoy's oil-dripping cup. But none of the other cups worked as well as his, so customers started asking for "the real McCoy." That's where the expression comes from.

Lewis Latimer (1848–1928) invented an important part of the light bulb - the carbon filament.

Jan Ernst Matzeliger (1852–1889) invented a shoemaking machine that increased shoe making speed by 900%!

Garrett Morgan (1877–1963) invented the gas mask.
Morgan also invented the first traffic signal.

Get well, sir!

I died today.
I was found by a kind, sweet woman who does wildlife rescue.
I was so sick, I could barely open my eyes.
She took me inside, cradling me in her warm arms, and made me warm and comfortable.
I opened my eyes and looked at her a... See More — with Robert Kelly and 4 others.

Science and spirituality do not have to be polarized.

On July 14, 1930, in this rare picture, Albert Einstein welcomed into his home on the outskirts of Berlin the Indian philosopher Rabindranath Tagore. The two proceeded to have one the most stimulating, intellectually riveting conversations in history, exploring the age-old friction between science and spirituality.

On this fourth day of Black History Month, we're celebrating what would have been the 100th birthday of Rosa Parks.

Today, the US Postal Service is honoring her with a brand new commemorative forever stamp.

May her legacy live on forever.
